Conspiracytheoriesareaninterestingtopic, and many people love to learn about them, whether they seem farfetched or not. Some will do research on the theories and find they believe them, and some are quick to denounce any theory as false, and some times outright ridiculous.

"Conspiracy" is defined as "a secret plan by a group of people to do something unlawful or harmful," and of course, a theory is just that: a theory. So a conspiracy theory is a hypothesis that there is a group of people secretly planning some harmful or criminal activity. The term used to mainly be used to describe any claim of political, civil, or criminal conspiracy, but has more recently come to be understood to mean a fringe theory that explains an event, either historical or current, as being carried out by a group of conspirators.

Some believe that conspiracy theorists are mentally ill, or otherwise unstable, whereassomeseethemasseekersoftruth,aspeoplewhoareabletoseethings, connections, that others may not be able to, and who are unafraid to speak out against the status quo. This book outlines 20 of the top conspiracy theories, goingbrieflyintotheirhistory,thebeliefsinvolved,andthereasonswhy.Seefor yourself:fact,orfiction?

Area51

WhatisArea51?

Area51isadetachmentoftheEdwardsAirForceBase.Whilethebaseitselfis locatedinCalifornia,Area51issituatedabout83milesnorthwestofLasVegas, inNevada.TheareaisownedbytheUSGovernmentandisoperatedbytheUS

Air Force. The stated purpose of Area 51 is to develop and test experimental aircraftandweaponstobeusedbytheUSmilitary.Area51isalsoreferredto byothernames,suchasDreamland,ParadiseRanch,HomeyAirport,andHome Base. Military personnel often use the terms "the box" and "the container" to refertotherestrictedairspacearoundArea51.

Whyisitsointeresting?

ThemainreasonthatmanypeopleareinterestedinArea51isthatthereisalot ofsecrecysurroundingthebase. Whilethereisoftenalotofsecrecyaroundany area that is testing and experimenting with new weaponry and aircraft for the military, some believe that the shroud around Area 51 hides deeper, even extraterrestrialsecrets. One of the base. They won't talk about it and don'taddressthearea.

Anotherofthemainreasonsfortheintrigueisthenumberoflightsthatpeople see in the sky above Area 51. People are told that the lights are due to the weaponsandaircraftdevelopmentgoingoninthebaseandthatthereisnothing extraterrestrialaboutit,butbelieversarenotconvinced.

It is believed that alien spaceships crash landed in the area, and were retrieved by military personnel. It's thought that much of the development and experimentation of weapons and aircraft done at the base are not on pieces of technology that had their origins here on Earth, but on the alien crafts that crashed on the site, including those materials they say were recovered at

Roswell.It'ssaidthatscientists,employedbythemilitary,aretryingtoreverse engineeralientechnologyforusebythemilitary.Notonlyaretheystudyingthe crafts, but they're also examining the occupants that were found in the crafts, livingaswellasdead.

It's not only the study and engineering of technology that is said to happen at Area51. Thosewhobelieveinthetheorythatstrangethingsarehappeningthere alsobelievethatthegovernmentholdsmeetingswithextraterrestrialsthere, and therefore secrecy and airspace restrictions are necessary to ensure that no one knowstheyarereceivingvisitorsfrombeyondourplanet.

Aliens aren't the only things that are said to be studied at Area 51. It is also believed that the government is using the space to develop technology that wouldmaketimetravelareality, as well as teleportation. They also believe that the government has been developing away to control the weather and that they may already be using that technology to day.

Many of the ideas of the strange happenings at Area 51 center around the underground facilities located at Papoose Lake or Groom Lake. People also believe that there is a transcontinental train system that starts at Area 51 and allows personnel to quickly, secretly, travel across the US. Also, the suspect is anairstripthatissaidtodisappear, dubbedthe "Cheshire Airstrip," after the cat in Lewis Carroll's novel sthat disappears.

Therehavebeenseveralpeoplethathavesaidtohaveknowledgeofthingsthat supporttheconspiracytheoriessurroundingArea51.AmannamedBobLazar said in 1989 that he was under contract to work with alien spacecraft that the governmentpossessed. Therewas also adocumentary in 1996 called Dreamland, directed by Bruce Burgess. It had an interview with a then 71-year-old man who was a mechanical engineer who said he used to work at Area 51 in the 1950s.

Themansaidthathehadbeenworkingona"flyingdiscsimulator,"andthatit wasbasedonapieceofanextraterrestrialcraftthatwasrecoveredfromacrash

site,andthatwasusedtotrainUSpilots.Themanalsosaidthathehadworked withabeing,notofourworld,called"J-Rod,"whohedescribedasa"telepathic translator."

Another man named Dan Crain, who worked under the pseudonym of Dan Burisch, saidin 2004 that he had been working on cloning virus esofalien origin at Area 51 and that he worked with J-Rodas well.

With all of the secrecy that surrounds Area 51, it has been easy for theories to crop up about what is really happening behind all those miles of fencing, all thoseguards, and even underground.

9/11WorldTradeCenterAttack

Whathappened?

On September 11, 2001, two planes crashed into the twin towers of the World TradeCenterinNewYorkCity. Another plane crashed into the Pentagon, while yetanother fell into a field. All told, 2,996 people lost their lives, and over 6,000 peoplewereinjuredintheattacks. Whileitwasatragedy, many people believe itwas notanaccident.

Whatarethetheories?

There are actually several different aspects of the theory that the attack on the World Trade Center was not a tragic accident, and that the truth has been covered up by the government. Below is a list of some of the theories that surroundwhatisseentobeamysteryattheheartoftheattack.

1. Stock Traders Knew About the Attacks Ahead of Time

It is said that right before the first plane crashed into the tower, many investors were expressing interestins elling American Airlines and United Airlines stocks.

Thisisconsideredtobefishybecausethoseweretheairlinesthatwerehijacked tocarryouttheattacks. It is believed by many conspiracy theorists that traders in insurance firms and the stock exchange were tipped of fabout the attacks ahead of time and used their knowledge to profit. Other than the obvious horror of using a tragedy to make money, this is considered suspect because they would havehadtogettheirinformationfromsomewhere, and if some one knew that the attackwasgoing to take place, why wasn't its topped?

2.NORADIssuedStandDownOrders

Another commonly believed conspiracy theory is that the North American AerospaceDefenseCommand(NORAD)hadtheabilitytolocateandintercept theplanes,hadknowledgeofwhatwashappening,anddidnothingtostopit.It's said that NORAD scrambled fighters late so that the planes would be able to reachthetowerandthePentagon,ratherthansteppinginandtakingtheplanes downbeforetheycouldwreakhavoc.

3. Collapseor Controlled Demolition?

Oneofthemostcommon, widespreadtheories about the attacks on 9/11 is that the impact of the planes crashing into the World Trade Center would not have caused it to fall in the way that it did and that the collapse was, in fact, caused by strategically placed bombs within the building. This is called the "demolition theory." Proponents of this theory include architect Richard Gage, physicist Steven E. Jones, and engineer Jim Hoffman. These peoples ay that the impacts and fires alone would not have been enough to bring down the towers and that they couldn't have totally collapsed, as quickly as they did, without other factors toweaken them.

An article was published in the Open Chemical Physics Journal called "Active Thermitic Material Discovered in Dust from the 9/11 World Trade Center Catastrophe," authored by Niels Harrit, Jeffrey Farrer, Steven E. Jones, and others. It said that there were thermite and nano-thermite composites found in thedebrisanddustaroundthecollapsedbuildingsandthatthisisproofthatthey werebroughtdownbyexplosives, notsimply fires.

Proponents of this theory believe that the angle of the collapse and the heat insidethatmeltedsteelbeamsareproofthatthebuildingsdidnotcollapsedueto theimpact, butwereinsteaddemolishedatthesamemomentastheimpact.

4.NoPlaneHitthePentagon

This theory is backed by filmmaker Dylan Avery and political activist Thierry

Meyssan. They claim that American Airlines Flight 77 did not cause the damage and destruction at the Pentagon. They say that the planed idn't hit the Pentagon at all. Instead, they believe that it was a missile that hit the Pentagon and that the missile was launched from inside the US, with ties to the US government. Part of the proof they claim for their theory is that the holes in the Pentagon walls are too small to have been made by a plane as big as a Boeing 757. The hole was said to be only 60 ft across, but a Boeing 757 measures 155 ft long and 125 ft wide.

5.FakeCellPhoneCalls

Anotherclaimmadebythosewhosaytheattackswerefakedisthatthephone calls that were made from the hijacked airplanes during their doomed flights were faked. It's said that this is because cell phones could not get reception at thealtitudethatplanesnormallycruise. Anotheraspectofthecalls that seems to prove them to be fake, or at least questionable, is that one of the callers, as on, referred to himself during the call to his mother by his first and last name, something that seems odd and suspicious.

There are many different theories that surround the possible faking of the terrorist attacks that took place on 9/11, and the ones listed here are only a sample.

TheJFKAssassination

Whathappened?

On November 22, 1963, President John F. Kennedy was riding in an opentopped limo, traveling through Dealey Plaza in Dallas, Texas. He was shot, struckbyonebulletinhisheadandanotherinhisneck. Amanwaschargedwith hismurder, Lee Harvey Oswald, and the Chief Justice, Earl Warren, stated that Oswald acted alone.

Whyisitstrange?

Thisisthestorythatistoldinthehistorybooks, but conspiracy theorists believe a different, darker story. The theories surrounding the perceived cover up are about a conspiracy that involves the Mafia, the CIA, Vice President Lyndon B

Johnson, Fidel Castro, and the KGB, either citing allors ome of the mashaving a hand in the conspiracy. People also believe that Oswald did not act alone in shooting the president and that there was another gunman who fired the second shot.

There are as many parts of the perceived conspiracy plot to assassinate JFK as therearepeoplewhobelieveit, soonly a few will be listed here for the sake of brevity.

Oneofthemaincomponents of these theories is that Oswald didnot actalone, and the strangeness that was his own murder. He was arrested within hours of the shooting, and by the next day, he had been arraigned. By Sunday afternoon, Oswaldwas dead, having been shot by Jack Ruby, an ight clubowner, while he was being moved to the county jail from the city jail. Once he was murdered, people started wondering if the president's assassination was part of a bigger scheme.

Another component is the number of shots fired. The FBI concluded that three shots were fired, two hitting the president and one of those two hitting and injuringGovernorConnally,whowasinthelimowiththepresidentandothers.

Somebelievethattherewasafourthshotfired,fromanearbygrassyknoll,that wasactuallytheoneresponsibleforKennedy'sdeath.Thistheoryisbackedby analysisofwhatisknownastheZapruderfilm,whichisasilent8mmfilmthat runsforatotalof26.6seconds.Itshowswhatsomebelievetobetheentiretyof theassassination,butothersbelievethatthereisabreakinthefilmingthatcould have shown more and proven that there was another gunman, another bullet fired. There were also eyewitnesses that said that there were more than three shotsfired,includingsomereporters,oneofwhomsaidshewasactuallyinthe lineoffire.

Anotheraspectoftheshootingitselfthatcomesunderfireisthetrajectoryofthe

bullet in relation to the "single shot theory," which states that one shot fatally wounded Kennedy. Nurses and doctors at the hospital that the president was takentoreportedthatKennedy'sheadseemedtohavebeenhitfromthefront, as the back of it was blown out. However, critics have said that for the bullet to havefollowedthetrajectorydecidedonbylawenforcement, it would have had tochange course aftergoing through his neck in order to hit Connally where it did. Critics also say that the bullet traveled downward, which means that it was shot from above, from the sixth-floor window of the nearby Book Depository building.

Theoriesaboutthe "why" of the conspiracy also abound. Some believe that the president was killed on the orders of his vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson, or by CIA agents, who were an gryat the events surrounding the Bay of Pigs. Some believe that he was assassinated by operatives from the KGB, and others think it could have been mobsters who were an grywith Kennedy's brother for helping to prosecute the organized crimerings.

SomepeoplebelievethatOswaldwasactuallyaCIAagentorthathehadasort of relationship with the Agency and carried out their wishes in assassinating Kennedy. An investigator for the House Select Committee on Assassinations saidthatthosewhowereinvestigatinghadbeenputunderpressuretonotdelve anydeeperintothepossibleconnectionbetweenOswaldandtheCIA.Heeven saidthattherewasaCIAagentincontactwithOswaldinthedayspriortothe assassination, who had connections to a Cubananti-Castrogroup.

The mystery surrounding the assassination of John F. Kennedy is one of the mostenduring, widespread, widely believed conspiracy theories that exists in the United Statestoday. There are many different ideas, reasons, and theories about it, and it warrants a closer look.

CIAandAIDs

YouareprobablyfamiliarwiththeAIDsvirus,butyoumaynotbeasfamiliar withthetheorythatitisnotanaturallyoccurringvirus,butis,infact,man-made andwasdistributedbytheCIA.ItiswidelybelievedandacceptedthatHIVand AIDS started in Africa, that it began as a monkey or chimpanzee virus which then "jumped species" to humans, and spread. However, there is a group of people who believe that the virus actually started out in Manhattan in 1979, whichwasafewyearsbeforetheviruswasnoticedin1982,inAfrica.

It is believed by some that the virus began with the CIA, through inoculations against hepatitis B. These inoculations were developed with the use of blood donatedbypeopleintheUS,themajorityofwhomweregaymales. Therewasa study conducted that was supposed to be with the purpose of helping prevent hepatitisBinat-riskpeople, which the gay community was considered to be.

The study used blood from members of the gay community as well as a chimpanzeeormonkeybloodtocreatethevaccine, which was then administered to members of the gay community. Shortly after, when AIDs testing became available, doctors and scientists tested the blood of those who had participated in the study and found that many of them were infected with HIV. It's believed by some that the CIA intentionally engineered the virus, either to cull the gay population and bring back what they considered to be a moral majority or to simply use the mass capego at stoin vent this disease for sinister use elsewhere.

Some also believe that the government invented HIV to thin the population, effectively committing genocide against its own people. An East German biologist published a pamphlet in 1986, during the first years of the AIDs epidemic, that said that there were scientists at a military lab in Fort Detrick, Maryland, who had created the disease by mixing a sheep virus called Visna witharetrovirusthatcausesleukemia,HTLV-1.

TherearealsothosewhobelievethattheAIDsviruswascreatedspecificallyto culltheblackpopulationinAmerica. Theybelievethattherewerescientistsata lab in New York called Cold Spring Harbor, who created HIV, and that the World Health Organization then used the smallpox eradication program to spreadthevirussecretly.

While there are many who believe that the virus was created intentionally for sinister use, there are some who posit that it was created by man, but accidentally. In 1999 a British journalist argued that a doctor at the Wistar Research Institute, named Hilary Koprowski, accidentally caused the epidemic becauseheusedkidneysfromchimpstomakeanoralpoliovaccine.Heclaims thatthechimpshadbeeninfectedwiththesimianprecursortoAIDS,SIV,and when there was a mass-vaccination experimental program done in the Belgian Congo,thevirusjumpedspecies.

Among the list of conspiracy theories is an idea that claims that AIDs is not a virusatall. Somebelieve that malnutrition is the cause of the disease in Africa and that promiscuity and drugs are what causes it in America. Some believe that AIDs is a Biblical plague, sent by God, in order to punish the gay community and the rest of America for allowing homosexuality in the country. These people believe that AIDs is specifically a "gay plague," and is their lot for their sins.

TWAFlight800:CrashorMissileAttack?

Whathappened?

Onthe17thofJuly,1996,nearsunset,TransWorldAirlinesFlight800tookoff fromJFKAirport,headingtoParis,France.230peopleflewontheBoeing747-131jetlinerthatday.Afteronlyabout11minutesintothefatefulflight,theplane wasflyingat13,700feetabovesealevel,whichislowerthanplanesusuallyfly atthatpointinflight.TWA800haddelayedgainingaltitudeinorderforanother jetliner to descend. 11 minutes into the flight, TWA 800 was south of Long Island,NewYork,overtheAtlanticocean.

Right when TWA 800 gained clearance to climb and reach their cruising altitude, disaster struck. The plane seemed to explode, without warning.

Kerosenewasdumpedfromthetanksatthecenterandwings, and it vaporized in the air and the nignited. The ensuing fireball was seen all along Long Island, and so was sections of the plane falling into the water.

Whywasitstrange?

Rightafterthecrash, therewere eyewitnesses who were interviewed for TV and radio. They reported that they had seen something odd right before the plane exploded. They said that there had been something in the air flying toward the plane, a bright object, that had turned midair as it got close. They said that it moved horizontally as well as vertically. The fact that it was seen so clearly by so many people on the ground, from different directions, meant that the object had to have been near the plane, and not acase of optical illusion. It was n't only eye witnesses who claimed to see something strange in the sky, however. Other pilots flying at the times aid that they had seen something near the plane, a bright light, right before it exploded. The plane see med to have been shot down.

TheFBIactuallyinterviewed154witnessesthattheyconsideredtobecredible, whoallsaidthattheyhadseenwhatlookedlikeamissileflyingthroughthesky toward the plane, right before it blew up. These people were school teachers, scientists, businessexecutives, and Armypersonnel, and were considered to be able to be trusted in their opinions.

Thegovernmentseemedtowanttokeeppeoplefromlookingtoocloselyatthe debris. This also is said to point to a coverup. There was information leaked by the Navyandthe FBI that seemed to imply that there was something dangerous on board TWA 800, something of a biological nature, that could be seriously risky for anyone to interact with. People reported seeing soldiers in bio-suits walkingalongtheLongIslandbeachesnearthecrashsite.

Officialsclaimedthattherewasnoexplosiveresiduefoundinthedebris, butthat waslatersaidtobefalseinformation, and that the truthwasbeing concealed by the public. Some people believed that it was simply a test missile gone wrong, but eventually, it was revealed that they had found explosive residue in the debrisandthat them is silehad been live, not adummy warhead at all.

Theofficialstorydecidedonbythegovernmenttoexplaintheplane's crashwas that the fuel vapor sinthefuel tank at the center of the plane exploded suddenly, which blew of the nose of the plane. They say the plane then kept climbing, and that it was the plane's climb that peoples awand mistook for a missile in the air.

They say that the plane then exploded and fell into the water. Skeptics do not believethisstory.

The official story doesn't line up with what many eyewitnesses, about 200 people, say they witnessed. It would require that every person who claimed to have seen something other than that story had been mistaken, that they had mistaken a plane climbing by itself in the air for a missile heading towards a plane.

Anotherreasonwhyskepticsdisbelievetheofficialstoryisthattheysaythata 747withoutanosecouldnotstayinastableflightlongenoughtomakeaclimb the way the government said it did, and proponents of the theory say this has beenproventobefalsebycalculationsandmodelsimulations.

The government seemed determined to make the public believe that the plane just exploded out of nowhere, but many people are not convinced, and still believethatitwasshotoutofthesky.

AliensandUFOLandingsinAmerica

Therehavebeenreportsmadeallacrossthecountryofstrangelightsinthesky, strangevesselsflyingthroughtheair, and strangecrashest hat no one seems to know anything about. These reports have been made for years, and have been brushed under the rugby the US government. However, there are many people who believe that the United Stateshasmade contact with extrater restrial life and that there have been many landings and crashes on our soil.

Perhaps the most famous example is that of Roswell, New Mexico. Many theoristsbelievethatwhatisreferredtoasthe"RoswellIncident"isoneofthe most obvious pieces of evidence that the United States government has lied aboutandcoveredupcontactwithextraterrestriallife,hereonEarth.

The event itself took place about 75 miles north of Roswell. Debris was recoveredfromaranchafteraranchworkerreportedit. Apressreleasethenext daysaidthata "flyingdisk" had crashed on the ranchduring abadstorm. Later, the story seemed to change. Now the press was saying that it was a weather balloon that had crashed, and reporters were shown debris that included foil, wood, and rubber, which seemed to confirm that.

According to official documents, the debris that was found on the ranch was from experimental technology, dubbed Project Mogul, which was supposed to detect sound waves present in the upper levels of the atmosphere from Soviet atomicbombs.However,manypeopledonotbelievethisstory.Intheyearsthat would follow, many books were published debunking it, claiming that it was actuallyanalienspacecraftthathadcrashedontheranch,andthattheweather balloon story was a coverup. Some claimed that there was a huge gouge taken out of the land at the crash site. Some said that witnesses saw an extensive, highly secretive recovery operation conducted at the ranch and that they were turnedawaybyarmedmilitarypolice.Onebookclaimedthattherewasagroup of archeology students present who saw the alien wreckage, as well as bodies.

People believe that it was an alien spacecraft that crashed on the ranch outside Roswellandthatthegovernmentrecoveredalienbodiesfromthesite, took them to a secure dlocation, and conducted autopsies on them.

There have been other accounts of UFO landings in the US. One astronaut, Gordon Cooper, says that he witnessed a UFO landing at Edwards Air Force Base,inCalifornia. The storygoesthathewas part of a group of elitetest pilots at the base, a group that was incharge of several advanced projects. He says that a camera crew was filming the installation of a system for precision landing when they saw aflying saucer in the sky. They watched it fly overhead, filming all the while and then saw it hover, extend three legs of landing gear, and come to restonad rylake bed. He said that the cameramen we reable to get within 30

y ards of the crash site while filming. He claimed that it was a "classic saucer, " smoothandshinysilver.Further,hesaiditwasabout30feetindiameter.When they got closer to the UFO, he said it took off again. Of course, when the incident was reported to the government, Cooper was ordered to develop the filmandthenhanditoverimmediatelytoWashington,whereitisnowdenied.

Those who believe that the government is covering up contact with extraterrestrial life believe that they're doing so because they have to keep covering the lies they started telling in World War II. Cooper says that they didn't want people to know about UFOs at the time, to keep the public from panicking, because they may have mistaken them for powerful enemy technology that the US couldn't defend against, which would hurt morale.

CoopersaystheycontinuedtohidetheexistenceofUFOsthroughouttheCold War,andthattheyhadtokeeplyingtocoveruptheoldlies,andnowtheycan't go back on them, even in the face of what many consider to be damning evidence.

TherearemanypeopleintheUnitedStatestodaythatbelievethatwehavebeen visited many times over by intelligent life from beyond our planet, throughout theyears. Some believe that they are the origin of all life on Earth, that we humans actually descend from extraterrestrial life. Some think that aliens are basically gods, that they formed life on Earth and come back to watch over it.

And some simply believe that they are intelligent life come to parlay with us, to bring us out into the universe.

ApolloMoonLanding:Faked?

OnJuly20th,1969,theApollo11wastheveryfirstmannedmissiontomakeit to the moon. Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin were the first men ever to step foot on the moon. That is if they actually did go to the moon at all. There are many people who believe that the first moon landing, and the subsequent landings,wereallfaked. There are several reasons why people doubt the truth of the landings, and why the government would want to fake the landings in the first place.

Those who doubt that we landed on the moon say that the main reason the governmentwouldfakeitisthattheyweregettingdesperatetobeattheRussians in the space race, but we were nowhere near being able to launch a spacecraft thatcouldsupporthumansandmakeittothemoonin1969.Ifwecouldlandon themoon,wewouldbeseentohaveadvancedtechnology,aswellasthemoney requiredtofundsuchanundertaking.WiththeColdWarquietlyragingon,the US wanted to prove that we were strong and secure enough to take the risk of sending people to the moon. Doubters say that because our technology wasn't whereitneededtobe,thegovernmentfakedthemoonlanding.

OthersclaimthatNASAfakedthefirstandsubsequentmoonlandingstomake sure that it kept receiving funding. Many theorists believe that it was not possible for us to get men to the moon in 1969, so they say that the money NASA raised for the project, around $30 billion, actually could have gone to paying off people that they owed. Doubters say that NASA also faked the landings to fulfill the goal set by President Kennedy, who said in 1961 that he plannedtolandamanonthemoonandbringhimsafelybacktoEarthbeforethe decadewasout.Timewasrunningout,andNASAhadtodosomethingtosave face.Skepticssaythatsomethingwasfakingthelanding.

Anotherreasonpeoplesaytherewasamotivetofakethelandingwasthatitwas to distract the public from the very unpopular Vietnam War. People were so focusedonthespaceraceandsohopefulandexcitedaboutseeingsomeonewalk on the surface of the moon, that the government was able to continue with the wareffortswithoutasmuchofabacklash.Proponentsofthistheorysaythatit makessensebecausethemannedlandingeffortsseemedtosuddenlyendassoon astheUSstoppedbeinginvolvedinthewar.

Therearemanyexamplesofwhatskepticsconsidertobeproofthatthelandings were faked. For the sake of brevity, there will only be a few listed here, but muchmoreinformationaboutthetheoriescanbefound.

Manypeoplelookatthephotographsandfilmsthatweretakenwhilesupposedly on the moon. Some point out perceived flaws in the images themselves, while some believe that the temperature on the moon would not have allowed for photographsorfilmingatall,thatitwastoohotandthefilmwouldhavemelted.

Skepticssaythatsincetherearenostarsinthephotographs, that means that the astronauts were not inspace, especially since the astronauts themselves stated in a press conference after the mission that they hadn't seen any stars with the nakedeye, either. Skeptics also say that the shadows are odd in the photos and film, that the color of the shadows, as well as their angles, are not consistent.

Possibly the most famous piece of proof used by skeptics is the images of the Americanflagthatwassetonthemoonduringthefirstlanding. Proponents of the theory that the landing was faked say that the flag appears to wave in the wind, which should be impossible, being that there is no atmosphere on the moon.

Otherreasonspeoplesaythelandingswerefakeincludeenvironmentalfactors.

Skepticssaythatastronautscouldnothavesurvivedthetriptothemoonbecause it would involve going beyond the Van Allen belts. The Van Allen belts trap radiationinmagnetic fields, and proponents of this theory say that the radiation level going through and then past the belts would have posed health threats.

They also say that this radiation level would have interfered with the camera film, causing itto fogup. Another point is that peoples ay that the footprints that were left in the dust on the moon were not possible, as it requires moisture to make a footprint like that, that retains its shape. There is no water on the moon, and so, therefore, peoples ay that the footprint was impossible.

There are many reasons why people believe that we have never landed on the moon, and many examples they can give a sproof. It is an interesting topic, and one wellworthrese arching further.

ReptilianRulers

You may think you know who is in charge. You may be familiar with the president, the vicepresident, kings and queens in other countries. You may think they wield the ultimate power to shape our lives. Many people believe that you are wrong. There are those who hold the belief that there is a race of reptilian creatures that actually control the planet, and that these creatures have in filtrated our society to the point where we cannot recognize them.

Therearetwodifferentoriginsstoriesthatarewidelybelieved. The first is that the reptilians evolved on Earth, along side our other life forms. The theory then goest hat they mastered intergalactic travel and left Earth, only to return millions of years later to control us and influence the course of our development. They say that they did this by creating borders, which gave humans something to fight over, and by controlling the media and distracting us with politics and entertainment. Proponents of this theory also claim that the reptilians are poisoning the water, food, and even air, in order to make humans more lazy and stupid, and therefore more easy to control.

According to this theory, and to many who believe it, there are two different types of reptilians at work in our society. Those who are pureblood and know theyarereptilians, who can change their appearance to seem human. And, those who believe that they are human but are actually across breed between reptilian and human, and are controlled to push an agendath at would bring for the New World Order.

It is believed that you can tell which humans are actually reptilians by their appearance. They are said to usually appear as white people, with green, blue, or hazeley est hat seempier cing. They have scarst hat are unexplained, as well as lower blood pressure. It's said that reptilians don't have empathy, and are unable to express love the way humans do. They are also said to be very smart and to harbor a love for science and space. HolocaustDenial millionJewishpeople.Itisconsideredtobethedeadliestgenocideinhistoryand wasapartofabroadergroupofactionstakenbytheNazipartyofGermanyto oppress and kill different political and ethnic groups throughout Europe. There are estimated to have been about 200,000 peopleresponsible for carrying out the actions that robbed that many people of their lives. The Holocaust was a concerted effort by Adolf Hitlertoeradicate the Jewishrace, which he viewed as inferior. He actually viewed many groups inferior and sought to wipe them all out. I washorrific, and survivors of the death camps that remain alive to days till remember the pain and suffering that happened there.

However, there is a surprising number of people who do not believe that the Holocaustoccurredatall. These people have several reasons for this belief, and things they consider to be proof.

OneofthereasonsthatHolocaustdenierssaythemythexistsisthattheJewish peoplecreateditfortheirowngain,tobasically"cashin"onitandmakemoney off of the restitution that would be paid by Germany afterward. They also say that the Allies perpetrated the myth in order to justify occupying Germany in 1945. They say that there is a huge conspiracy between the Allied powers, the Jewishpeople, and Israel, tousethe Holocaust for their ownend, and to justify establishing the State of Israel.

Holocaust deniers are able to look past what many consider to be incontrovertibleevidencethatithappened,andsaythatitwasallahoax. They saythatthe Alliedpowerstortured those who took part to confess their roles and that the confessions were all lies that were spoken to save themselves from further torture. They say that the "few" Jewish people who actually died during this time died of natural causes, or were executed for crimes.

One of the reasons deniers say that the Holocaust didn't happen is that the gas chamberswouldnothaveworkedthewaytheywerebuilt. Theysaythat, as the chambers were not hermetically sealed, the gas would have leaked out and actually poisoned those trying to do the gassing. They also say that there is no waythatthenumberofJewishpeoplewhodiediscorrect, astheysay, thatthe mass graves and piles of bodies have not been found in the numbers that are reported by authorities and historians. They say that the Jewishpeople who were said to be starving in the camps were only starving because the Allieshad cutoff food supplies, and it was not perpetrated by the Germans at all. They say that the tattoos that survivors bear are faked, that the Germans would not have gone through the trouble of tattooing prisoners that they planned to slaughter. They say that the oven sthat were present were too small to cremate bodies on a mass scale, and were instead there to cremate those who died of contagious diseases while working in POW camps during the war. They say the photos were falsified, as propaganda.

DidShakespeareExist?

Tobeornottobe? Thatis, apparently, the question when it comes to William Shakespeare. He is possibly the most well-known playwright of our age, but there are those who believe that he did not author all of the works that are attributed to him.

ThereisnotmuchknownaboutWilliamShakespearebiographically. Thebasic factsarethathewasborn, raised, and buriedinStratford-Upon-Avon, amarket town around 100 miles northwest of London. Stratford was known for slaughteringandmarketingsheep, and forwooltradingandtanning. Hisfather was a glover, and his mother was a member of the local gentry. They both signed their names with marks, rather than signatures, indicating a lack of education, and there's no evidence that either of Shakespeare's daughters was literate. Those who believe Shakespeare did not author his works say that his background wasn't compatible with the background of the type of person who would write the things he is said to have written. The person who wrote those works is said to have displayed knowledge of court culture and politics and sports beloved by the aristocracy, like lawn-bowling, falconry, and tennis.

Believers of this theory say that the son of a glover was not likely to have experiencewiththesethings.

Most theorists, or Anti-Stratfordians, believe that William Shakespeare was a frontorapseudonymusedtohidetherealauthororauthors, who could not, for whatever reason, take credit for their work. There are many peoplewho Anti-Stratfordians say actually wrote Shakespeare's work, and here are afew of them.

ChristopherMarlowe, also aplaywright, was writing around the sametime that Shakespearewas. Proponents of the theory say that Christopher Marlowedidn't actually die in abrawlatthe end of Mayin 1593 and that this report was faked, in order to protect Marlowe from being imprisoned for a the ism. People who believe in this theory, called Marlovits, think that Shakespeare was cited as the author of works Marlow actually wrote, in order to hide the truth that Marlow was still alive.

WilliamStanley

Another important person, and another Earl, William Stanley is seen as a contenderforseveralreasons, one of which could seem very simple: his initials.

Stanley was the sixth Earl of Derby, which would make him well-educated as well as familiar with the finery of court life. He also owned his own theater company, so he had a background in plays. Chemtrails Ifyou'vebeenoutsideonaclear,sunnyday,youhavelikelyseenthetrailsthat are left behind in the sky by airplanes. These are generally understood to be

"contrails," aportmanteaufor "condensation trails," and have been explained just to be condensation left behind in the air by the air planes.

However, there are many people who do not believe this explanation at all. They believe that these trails are actually made up of chemicals, and call them chemtrails. They say that the sechemicals are released into the air intentionally, for different uses, depending on the theorist. Some believe that the sechemicals may be released with the purpose of controlling the population, manipulating people psychologically, modifying the weather, managing solar radiation, or chemical or biological warfare. People also believe that the chemtrails are the reason behind many health problems, including respiratory illnesses.

The theories began in 1996 after the United States Air Force released a report about weather modification. The report talked about weather modification, and Ifyouhavekeptupwithpopcultureatallduringthelast50orsoyears,you'll be familiar with a band called The Beatles. Considered to be one of the most influential music groups ever, The Beatles have enjoyed a fame unrivaled by many. With fame, comes attention, and attention often leads to more strange forms of attention, such as conspiracy theories, like the one that says the Paul McCartneyisactuallydead.

PaulMcCartneyisDead

TherumorstartedinLondon,sayingthatPaulMcCartneyhaddiedduetoacar crashwhiledrivinghisAstonMartininJanuaryof1967.Then,inSeptemberof 1969, an editor who worked on the student newspaper at Drake University publishedanarticleaskingifPaulMcCartneywasactuallydead.Itdetailedthe rumor that had been going around campus that Paul had died, and those who perpetratedtherumorsaidtheyhadfoundmanycluesinBeatlesalbumsthathad beenrecentlyreleased.

One well-known clue is that people apparently heard the phrase "turn me on, deadman" when they played as ong titled "Revolution 9," on the White Album, backward. Abbey Road was released that October and the theory went that there could be clues found in the album art that pointed to Paul McCartney being dead.

Therumorgrewquickly. Acallertoa Detroitradiostation told the DJabout the rumorand the clues, and a few days after that, The Michigan Daily published a satirical piece about the rumor, talking about clues that had been found on different Beatles album covers. He had made up some of the clues and was surprised when newspapers across the country picked up the story. The rumor just continued to grow, sparking at wo-hours pecial on the radio, and in spiring a New York DJ total kabout it on the air formore than an hour, before he was cut offbybeingpulledofftheair,forgoingoff-format.

The story went that on November 9th, 1966, Paul McCartney argued with his bandmatesduringarecordingsession. Hethendrove of fangrily, and crashed his car, dying as a result. To prevent wides pread grief by those who were caught up in Beatlemania, the band replaced him with some one named William Campbell, amanwhowonaPaulMcCartneylook-alikecontest.

There are said to be many clues that point to Paul McCartney actually being dead. Somesay they have found hidden messages in Beatlessongs when they're played backward, as well as forwards. For instance, peoples ay they have heard John Lennon say "I buried Paul" at the end of the song "Strawberry Fields Forever."

Another clue that's often cited is the artwork on the Abbey Road album cover.

People have interpreted it to be depicting a funeral procession, and say that Lennon, having been dressed in all white, symbolises a heavenly figure, George Harrison, we aring denim, symbolises a graved igger, Ringo Starr, we aring black, stands for the undertaker, and Paul Mc Cartneyhimself, being bare foot and not in step with the rest of his band, stands for the corpseitself. People also say that a car's license plate that can be seen in the background is symbolic as well, for it reads "28 IF." They said that means that Mc Cartney would have been 28 years old at that point if he had lived.

Thistheoryhasbeenreferencedinpopculturemanytimesovertheyearssinceit gainedpopularity. ABatmancomicinthe 1970s referenceditinthe plot. There have been several books released about the theory, and in 2010 there was an ovel released by an American author that had all the Beatles as zombies, except for Ringo Star, and was about a zombie invasion in Britain. There was even a mockumentary released that same year, making fun of the theory, that had faked audiotapes of a person who claimed to be George Harrison, stating that the rumor was actually true.

Illuminati

Ifyou'refamiliarwithanyconspiracytheoriesatall,youhavelikelyheardthe term "Illuminati" before. Many conspiracy theories go back to the Illuminati.

Indeed,manyoftheonesdiscussedinthisbookarealsosaidtoberelatedtothe Illuminati.Butwhatexactlyisit?Historically,theIlluminatiactuallyexisted.It was called the Order of the Illuminati and was a secret society in the Enlightenment age in Upper Bavaria, in Germany. It was founded by a universityprofessornamedAdamWeishauptin1776andwasagroupofpeople who advocated such things as secularism, freethought, liberalism, gender equality, and republicanism. They recruited their members from the German Masonic Lodges, which were mystery schools to teach rationalism. The Order wasnotlong-lived, however, and was broken up and suppressed by government agents. The government was a fraid of groups of this kind, as they were breeding grounds for the types of people who would try to over throw what they perceived to be an unjust government.

However, according to some, the Illuminatine verdied, but simply went further underground, and still exists to this day. There are many, many facets of this theory, and proponents say that the Illuminati's influence reaches everywhere, into many different aspects of our lives.

According to some, the Illuminati is a group of elites who work from the shadows to control almost everything having to do with our lives, everything from the government and finances to culture and religion. People believe that, although membership is secretive and no one can be sure who is in the Illuminati,manymembersleavesignsforthoseintheknowtofind.Peoplewho are suspected of being in the Illuminati range from Barack Obama, the Pope, QueenElizabethII,andGeorgeWBush,toKanyeWest,LadyGaga,JimCarrey and Willow Smith. The banks are all supposedly in on it, with their highest-rankingleadersintheIlluminati.

The Illuminati is said to control many different things, or at the very least, influences things. They are said to order assassinations, and it's believed that they ordered John F Kennedy's assassination, because they were afraid of him makingtoomanychangestotheFederalReserve.TheIlluminatiisalsosaidto controltheFederalReserve,inordertocontrolallfinancesintheUnitedStates,

They also use the media to keep us complacent and distracted, so we won't noticewhatthey'reupto,andhowthey'recontrollingourlives.

Those who believe in this theory believe that the Illuminati's end goal is to establish a new worldwide authoritarian government, called the New World Order. There are as many theories about what will come next as there are theories about the Illuminati itself. Some believe that the Illuminati is Satanic, and the members wish to bring about the reign of Lucifer on the Earth. They believe that an Antichrist will emerge to plunge the world into darkness, to controleverythingfortheirgain. Mostofthepeoplewhobelievethis are part of the more fundamentalist Christian groups, and they believe that this will bring about the End Times. Because the Devil is immoral, they believe that many of the goals of the Illuminatia retotrytomake everyone else beas immoral as the believers think the members are. For example, one theory says that part of the New World Order will be forced conversion to homosexuality. Many believe that the end goal is for the world to be controlled by a small group of Youmaybefamiliarwithfluoridation. It is the process by which the government adds fluoride to the municipal drinking water supply, ostensibly to strengthen bones and teeth, especially in children. It seems like a good program, for the benefit of the citizens. However, there are many who believe that there as ons for the introduction of fluoride into our water are much more sinister.

FluorideintheWaterforMindControl

To start, they say, you have to understand the difference between the type of fluoride that human bodies need and can process, and the poisonous type they say is added to our water. Organic calcium-fluoro-phosphate is the good kind, thekindthatweneedtobuildandstrengthenourbonesandteeth, and it can be in foods. It's an organic, edible salt, insoluble in water, and it can be assimilated into our bodies. This is not the kind of fluoride that proponents of this their say that the government feeds to us through our water. That kind is apparentlysodiumfluoride, adeadlypoison. It is water soluble and not organic and can be used as a very efficient rat-killer.

The sodium fluoride in the water is said to have a number of harmful effects, from destroying teeth to effectively providing minor lobotomies to massive amounts of people. This is the main reason, people say, that the government distributes it in the drinking water. They say that the real reason for the fluoridation of drinking water is to keep the population more docile and less resistance to being controlled, to having their freedoms taken away. They say that, over time, the amount of fluoride in the water slowly poisons and kills a partofthebrain, which makes the persondrinking it more submissive to those in power.

There are many different theories about the origins of the fluoridation of our water supply. Some believe that it was a plan concocted by Hitler and his scientists during World War II, that was later adopted by the United States.

Some think big business and banks are behind it, using the sodium fluoride to maketheircustomerseasiertocontrol.

Malaysian Airlines' troubles aren't limited to this one incident, however. They seemtohavehadmorethantheirshareofaircraftissues, and some believe that it is not a coincidence or technicalissue, but a curse. Proponents of this theory cite the fact that the number 7 was related to every single Malaysian Airlines crashor disappearance as proof that there's something strange and sinister going on.

MH370 was a Boeing 777, and it was carrying 227 passengers. On July 17, 2014, one of Malaysia Airlines' planes was shot down; it was also a Boeing 777, and the flight code was MH17. That plane had been flying for 17 years before it crashed. Going backfurther, they say, there was also a crash on December 4th, 1977, which was actually the first recorded aircraft crash. The idea that our government spies on us is one familiar to most people, and believedbymany. The National Security Agency is a government organization that is dedicated to preserving the safety of our country, usually by monitoring within the country. For along time, people have been uneasy about the idea that there is a government entity watching them, viewing it as an invasion of privacy.

It was seen as a conspiracy theory, the belief that the government was secretly collectinginformationaboutitspeople, everything from physical images to bank records to cell phone calls. This is one of those theories that has been proven correct. Whistleblowers like Edward Snowden have come forward saying that the NSA has been using its surveillance powers to turn inward, to spyon United States citizens, by saying that they're searching for domestic terrorists or signs of foreign terrorists on our soil.

There are many different ways that people believe the NSA is watching them, somemorelikelythanothers. The government has admitted to tapping phones, so people believing that their conversations are being listened to and their text messages are being readisn't far fetched. There are also, however, people who believe that any trace they leave of themselves on the Internet, such as shopping history or opinions, is kept in a file in a government building. It's said that information is provided to the NSA from such large web presences as Google, Facebook, Yahoo!, Youtube, and Skype, and some people feel that the government is tracking their every move by looking at their internet history and usage of programs from these businesses.

Thenationalintelligencedirector, James Clapper, saidin 2013 that PRISM is a government computer system that they use to "facilitate the government's statutorily authorized collection of foreign intelligence information from electronic communication service providers." Theysaythat PRISM and programs like itareunconstitutional and that there are many such programs that are kept secret by the government, so the people won't know just how much information the government is collecting on them.

Some people believe they are being watched, not only through their phone conversations and internet activity but through other methods too. Such methods include the government watching us through our webcams, tracking us using the GPS in our phones, listening to us through gaming systems that have voice recognition, like the Xbox One, and recording and storing images of us captured by security cameras all over the country. Some even believe seemingly innocuous games, such as Pokemon GO!, are tracking us and are being used to collect data on us.

Hitler Escaped Germany

The rear emany conspiracy theories that center around Nazi Germany. From U-boats full of treasure sunk off the coast of New Zealand to jungle hideouts to sunken gold in Austrian lakes, there is no shortage of unconventional beliefs about what happened during and around the time of World War II. One such theory is that Adolf Hitler and his wife, Eva Braun, did not kill themselves togetherintheirbunker, butinsteades caped Germany and lived out their days in South America.

This theory began because, while most scholars and historians agree that the suicide occurred, their bodies were never publicly seen, or formally identified.

South America comes into play because, as Berlin fell, Latin America was welcomingNazisfleeingfromGermany,soitwouldhavebeenthemostlogical placeforHitlertofleeto.

There was one document that recorded the statement of some one who said they had witnessed Hitler's landing in Argentina, saying that he was one of four people who met the party as they emerged from submarines about two weeks after Berlinfell.

The FBI considered the person who turned in that letter to be not credible, but according to the files, viewed many other letters as possible truth.

Barack Obama is a Muslim Immigrant

FewwillbeabletoforgetthehistoricelectionoftheUnitedStatesofAmerica's firstAfrican-Americanpresidentin2008.Fewcanalsothinkabouttheelection withoutthinkingofthesuspicionsthatwereleviedagainstObamawithregards tohiscitizenshipandhisreligion.Manybelieved,andstillbelieve,thatBarack Obama is not actually an American citizen, which would disqualify him from being president, and that he is a practicing Muslim, something that many membersoftherightwingarebotheredby.

TherumorsbeganduringObama'scampaignfortheSenatein2004andspread throughviralemailsby2006. ThoughhewasraisedbyhisChristianmother, for themostpart, hisfatherandstepfatherwerebothMuslim, and this isonebasis for therumor. It was also said that during the ceremony for him to take his oath of office for the US Senate, he placed his hand on a Qur'an rather than on the traditional Bible. There were also rumors that he had spent four years in a Muslim seminary, or a madrassa, in Indonesia. This story was published in a magazine that has since stopped publication. There was another rumor that his middlenamewasMohammed, and this was used to further the claim that he is actually Muslim. His real middlename is Hussein, but that has not really helped the case against him, as believers in this theory point to the very Muslim-sounding middlename as proof still, especially since American shave been used to hearing that name in the context of Saddam Hussein.

The belief that Obama is a Muslim seems to be troubling to those to believe it becausetheyfeelthatIslamisadangerous, violentreligion, deeplyinvolvedin terrorism and attacks throughout the world because of the teachings of the Qur'an. So, if Obamaisa Muslim, that makes him athreat to the American way of life, according to believers of this theory. Somethink that Obamawas placed in office towreak havo cfrom the inside out, to bring down the United States on behalf of what they consider to be the violent Muslimmajority.

The other part of the rumor about Barack Obama's origins is that he is not a natural-born American citizen. Though he was born in Hawaii, many people believethatisalie, used to cover up the fact that he was actually born in Kenya.

Others believe that, since Obama lived in Indonesia for a time as a child, he becameacitizenofIndonesiaandlosthisUScitizenship.

ThesetheoriesaboutObama'sreligioncameontothescenearound2004when Obama was running for the US Senate. The rumors spread on the internet and were also voiced in a president pressrelease by another candidate, Andy Martin, and they eventually evolved into conspiracy theories about his citizenship. Starting in 2008, there were rumors spread on conservative websites that said that Obama was born in Kenya and then flown to Hawaii. This would disqualify him as president, a sone has to be born in the US to qualify for the presidency. Emails circulated that spread the rumor and went viral. Soon after, people began demanding to see Obama's birth certificate, and that 's where the setheorists got their name: birthers. A former Democratic State Committee of Pennsylvania memberPhilipJBergtriedtosueObamaandwasunsuccessful.Heclaimedthat Obama was born in Mombasa, Kenya. There were articles published that referred to him as "Kenyan-born," and anonymous emails claimed that the AssociatedPresshadcalledhim"Kenyan-born"aswell.

They also claimed that the birth certificates could not be valid, as they were printed on a laser printer, which didn't exist when Obama was born in 1961.

Thereisamyriadofotherclaimsbirthershavemadeaboutthebirthcertificate that they say prove there is a coverup. Such as, his mother didn't live at the address that was on the birth certificate. On December 16th, 2016, Sheriff Joe Arpaio of Maricopa County in Arizona held a press conference regarding Obama's birth certificate. The Investigation concluded that Obama's birth certificate, which was released by the whitehouse, was clearly aforgery. This was no wild claim. Experts were hired, and evidence of a forgery was presented. The investigation was started in 2011 and was concluded in 2016. Mike Zullo, a posse member, headed up the investigation and hired experts showed 9 points of forgery on the document. Justmonthsbefore Sheriff Joe's press conference, The Department of Justice attorney John Keller accused Sheriff Joe of violating a preliminary injunction, dating backto December 2011, to prevent the Maricopa County Sheriff's office from following and enforcing federal immigration laws.

The case was later turned over to the Justice department, which is fully under Obama's control. The DOJ charged the Sheriff with contempt of court. This was all happening during the reelection bid which Sheriff Joelost.

Many have since dismissed the claims made by birthers that Obama isn't a citizen as simple racial prejudice, but there are still many people who believe thathewasnotbornintheUnitedStates,andshouldneverhavebeenpresident.

One-WorldGovernment

This conspiracy theory actually brings together a group of others, including theories about the Illuminati, lizard people, and aliens. It says that there is a groupofpeople, elites, whorule the world, and who segoalitis for the world to be ruled by a single government that they control, without having to hide in the shadows the way that they do now.

Those who believe this conspiracy theory believe that there is a group of evil peoplewhowanttoruleandthattheydosobysubtlyinfiltratingoursocieties, tricking the population into believing them. They say that these people use distractions such as entertainment media, study, unnecessary work, and sports to distract us, so we won't realize that they're taking over. It's believed that this group of people is made upofinternational bankers as well as the Illuminatiand that these people control everything: the workforce, mainstream media, education system, banks, commerce, energy, and even the governments. This group is said to be controlled by the super-rich, families like the Rothschilds and the Rockefellers. They're also said to hide behind organizations like the United Nations, which many people believe is actually a form of one-world government.

Believersfeelthatthisgrouphasseveralgoals. Sometakear eligious approach, believing that the one-world government conspiracy is maintained by and for a group of people whoserve Satanand is to bring about the end of the world. They feel that one of the goals of the one-world government is to merge all religions into a one-world church, the goal of which will be to serve Satan. Some feel that the New Agemove ments are a part of this.

Another main goal of the conspiracy is said to be control of all the world's money. Believersfeelthatiftheelitegroupcontrols themoney, they control the people and that this is done with debt. The elite are keeping everyone else in debttothem, which keeps the people under their control. They believe that the elite is controlling our money because if we have the financial resources, we have the power to fight back, but if they keep us destitute and under their thumb financially, we'll be too dependent on them to try too verthrow them. They also feel that the elite are keeping us poor, so we have to keep working harder and harder, longer and longer hours. The busier and more exhausted we are because of the work we need to do just to get by, the less likely we are to revolt.

Believers also say that this group of elites creates problems on purpose to keep usdistractedandwornout,likewarsandmarketdepressions. Theysaythisisto confuse and distract us, so we won't be paying attention to their actions.

According to believers, this group funded both sides of most of the wars that have been fought during the last 200 years. The weather is also under this group's controland is manipulated for their gain. The group is said to control disease and medicine, to give the powerful more control over the weaker masses.

Signs that believers say point to the world being pushed into a one-world government government to ward globalization, for eigninvestment, free trade, international organizations, peace agreements that give a false sense of security, privatization, and debt.
